3. Describe evidence-based nutrition therapy guidelines for HCV and liver support;
4. Describe evidence-based nutrition therapy guidelines for metabolic syndrome;
5. Describe evidence on recommendations that are outside of the standards of medical nutrition therapy including: anti-inflammatory foods, micronutrient supplementation, K-PAX.

2:10pm “HIV/HCV: Pharmacology”: Tina J. Kanmaz, PharmD, AAHIVE, BCMAS

Learning Objectives: Upon completion, participants will be able to:

1. Describe how antiretroviral drugs work in HIV infection and the rationale for combination therapy;
2. Describe how antiviral drugs work in Hepatitis C infection and the rationale for combination therapy; and
3. Recognize potential drug-drug interactions in the HIV/HCV co-infected patient.

3:10pm “HIV/HCV: End Stage Liver Disease / Liver Transplant”: Ponni V. Perumalswami, MD

Learning Objectives: Upon completion, participants will be able to:

1. Understand when is the best time to start HCV treatment pre or post liver transplant;
2. Review end-stage liver disease and its complications as it relates to HIV/HCV connected patients; and
3. To review liver transplantation as it relates to HIV/HCV-connected patients including the growing role of HCV-positive donors.

3:50pm “HIV/HCV: A Behavioral Health and Psycho-social Perspective”: Francine Cournos, MD

Learning Objectives: Upon completion, participants will be able to:

1. Increase awareness of the common behavioral health conditions associated with HIV/HCV co-infection;
2. Gain an overview of some of the common treatments for behavioral health conditions in this population; and
3. Address important psychosocial factors that influence the treatment of people living with HIV/HCV co-infection.

4:30pm Participants Submit Online Evaluation
